Beijing, China

The former imperial city of the Mongol, Ming and Manchu emperors, Beijing is one of China's oldest citadels. Rich in historical sites and cultural relics, this dynamic city of more than 20 million people is the cultural and spiritual heart of the country and the ideal place from which to begin tracing back the fascinating narrative of ancient China.

Visit the magnificent Great Wall of China, a UNESCO World Heritage site and symbol of imperial grandeur since 500 B.C. Constructed over the course of 2000 years, this imposing fortification once spanned more than 21,000 kilometres. Walk along this historic border and marvel at sweeping views of China's northern plains and valleys.

Walk through historic Tiananmen Square, the world's largest public square and site of the memorial of modern China's founder, Mao Zedong. Then, pass through the imposing Meridian Gate into the mystical UNESCO World Heritage-designated Forbidden City, residence of Ming and Qing dynasty emperors for almost 500 years. Inside, ascend the stone steps of the magnificent Hall of Supreme Harmony to explore the ceremonial halls, royal apartments, gardens and temples of the Imperial Palace.

The beautifully landscaped Summer Palace, a UNESCO World Heritage site and a masterpiece of Chinese landscape garden design, was the retreat of 19th-century Empress Dowager Cixi. Walk through Cixi's private apartments, filled with jewel-encrusted furniture, and see her ornate Marble Boat. Then, enjoy a small boat cruise across Kunming Lake's tranquil waters, which, along with Longevity Hill, form the key aesthetic features of the Summer Palace gardens.

Tour another extraordinary UNESCO World Heritage site, the Temple of Heaven, a magnificent complex of religious buildings symbolizing the relationship between heaven and Earth.

Cover photo: Clay was individually applied to the visages of each figure in Emperor Qin Shihuang's Terra Cotta Army to create distinct facial features.

Xi'an

Ancient Chang'an, known today as Xi'an, was China's thriving capital of emperors, courtesans, monks, merchants and soldiers for 11 dynasties. It was a place where many of the world's great religions coexisted and the fabled launching point of the Silk Road, where camel caravans introduced Chinese influence to the world and distributed goods from the Eurasian continent.

Tour the exquisite Yangling Imperial Tomb, where thousands of captivating figurines excavated from the 2100-year-old tomb of Emperor Liu Qi capture the essence of daily life during the Han dynasty, a high point in Chinese history, when culture and the arts flourished as never before.

Cruise the scenic waterway carved by the heart of China, an exotic landscape of sheer cliffs.

Visit the amazing UNESCO World Heritage site of the famous life-size Terra Cotta Warriors, no two alike.

In 1974, farmers digging a well unearthed this incredible archaeological discovery—one of the most extraordinary finds of the 20th century—an army of thousands of terra cotta warriors and horses maintaining a silent vigil over the tomb of Emperor Qin Shi Huang (259-210 B.C.). This visionary monarch, the first ruler of a unified China, introduced a standardized writing system, reformed the legal code and commenced the building of the Great Wall of China, the greatest public works project of its era. The emperor, as large a figure in death as he was in life, lies buried in a mausoleum that took 36 years to construct and required the efforts of 700,000 labourers. The tomb itself remains unexcavated, guarded by row upon row of charioteers, infantry, cavalry and horses. Each warrior has a distinctive, lifelike facial expression and bears trappings denoting his rank within the imperial army—general, senior officer, junior officer or common soldier.

Walk along Xi'an's fortified medieval city walls, the best-preserved in China, and explore the lively streets of the Huimin quarter, infused with a rich heritage influenced by merchants who travelled the Silk Road 1300 years ago. From Xi'an's distinctive, triple-eaved Bell and Drum Towers, watchmen once signalled dawn and dusk with a bell and a drum, respectively.

Enjoy a traditional dumpling dinner in one of Xi'an's most famous restaurants. Dumplings, called jiaozi, are said to have been introduced to Chinese cuisine 1800 years ago.

Lhasa, Tibet

One of the world's highest cities at an elevation of more than 3500 metres, Lhasa has been a centre of Tibetan Buddhism since the religion was introduced here in the seventh century. Today in this captivating city, one can see devout pilgrims, prostrating monks, colourful neighbourhood quarters and medieval monasteries.

“The China trip was a once-in-a-lifetime journey to eight cities. David and I are simply in awe of what you provided for the travellers. I truly believe that almost every single person in the group realizes we saw China as very few are privileged to do. Gohagan Travel Directors, the outstanding local guides, the hardworking and kind ship's crew—they all were key to this incredible adventure.”

The awe-inspiring Historic Ensemble of Potala Palace, Norbulingka Palace and Jokhang Temple are designated UNESCO World Heritage sites for their architectural significance.

Atop rocky Red Mountain, the magnificent 1000-room, 117-metre-tall Potala Palace, once the winter residence of the Dalai Lamas, towers above the city. Walk up the central stone staircase to this 13-story masterpiece of Tibetan architecture and see the ornately carved and painted ceremonial hall of the White Palace, where Tibet's rulers ascended to the throne.

Ming and Qing emperors offered sacrifices and prayed for bountiful harvests in Beijing's dignified Temple of Heaven, founded in the early 15th century.

...the Yangtze River through
...of verdant mountains and

Commissioned by the fifth Dalai Lama, the landmark Potala Palace served both as a spiritual site and bureaucratic complex for the Tibetan government.

Further up the mountain, visit the stunning chapels in the Red Palace, where opulent, jewel-laden monuments honour previous Dalai Lamas.

Just outside the city, the 15th-century Sera Monastery, one of the great educational centres of Gelugpa, or Yellow Hat—the most widespread order of Tibetan Buddhism—once housed more than 5000 monks. Observe the animated style of debate they practice each afternoon in the courtyard of Sera’s largest school, a fascinating Tibetan tradition.

The 18th-century Norbulingka Palace was built by the seventh Dalai Lama on a site of medicinal springs; the lush grounds of this “Jewelled Park” today constitute the largest garden in Tibet.

The elaborate Jokhang Temple—the most sacred building in Tibet—was constructed in A.D. 647 in the heart of the city’s Old Town by Emperor Songtsen Gampo to honour his two Buddhist wives.

Outside the temple complex, stroll along the winding lanes around bustling Barkhor Square, where Tibetan monks chant mantras and spin prayer wheels, fragrant incense wafts through the air and the brilliant colours of silk robes and turquoise jewellery line the alleys. Lhasa’s only female Buddhist monastery, the Canggu Nunnery, is an oasis amid the activity of Barkhor; here, the residents welcome visitors to wander the brightly hued courtyards and listen to their rhythmic recitations.

Chongqing, China

This picturesque mountain city, located at the confluence of the Yangtze and Jialing Rivers, is known for its traditional teahouse culture and spicy Szechuan cuisine. Visit Chongqing’s zoo, one of the largest of its kind in China, to see playful giant pandas—recently removed from the endangered species list after decades of conservation efforts—in specially designed garden habitats that simulate their natural environment.

Yangtze Cruise

Three Gorges/Three Lesser Gorges/ Three Gorges Dam

The captivating three-day cruise aboard the VICTORIA JENNA stops in fascinating, historic ports and showcases the grandeur of one of China’s greatest natural wonders, the Three Gorges.

Visit Shibaozhai, which translates to “Precious Stone Fortress,” a rocky promontory on the north bank of the river. Built into its side is the graceful Pearl of Yangtze, a 12-tiered red wooden pagoda rising 56 metres to the top of a towering cliff.

Pass through Kui Gate, the soaring twin peaks that mark the gateway to Qutang, the most dramatic of the Three Gorges. Admire the quiet beauty and sheer white-stone cliffs of stunning Wu Gorge, where the legendary Twelve Peaks look down

Stay in Shanghai’s historic FAIRMONT PEACE HOTEL, whose

THE MYSTIQUE OF CHINA AND TIBET

Chinese civilization originated along the Yellow and Yangtze Rivers during the Neolithic era, and for centuries, its culture, literature and philosophy flourished, with each dynasty and kingdom adding to its collective knowledge and heritage.

Similarly, Tibet possesses a long and storied history of deep cultural tradition that formed along the Yarlung River Valley in the seventh century.

Historic home of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's remote location among the foothills of the Himalayan mountains holds an intriguing allure.

The peaks of the Himalayans are sacred to Buddhism, the religion that serves as a powerful bridge between the physical and spiritual relationship of China and Tibet. Its teachings have played an influential role in the politics, economics, technology and art among Tibetans, Chinese and their neighbours through the present day. Yet, for hundreds of years, China and Tibet were insular countries, allowing only glimpses of their cultural richness to the outside world via the Silk Road, which further stoked the European's imagination of exotic lands in the East. A mysterious land, one which Napoleon referred to as "a sleeping giant that would change the world when awoken," China finally lifted its shroud in 1972.

The reopening of China, and Tibet several years later, and the introduction of their ancient traditions to the Western world, vaulted the country into its current progressive nation status, which continues to be a spectacular transformation of the most populous, perhaps most culturally unique place on Earth.
